

April 15, 2009

Doctor Peter Haiman,

How nice to hear from you. Hope all is well with you. So far everyone in the house is expressing their feelings every chance available. _____ is starting to cry when things bother him instead of holding everything in. I just hold him and then he tells me what he wants and how he feels. His old/present caregiver says that he is fine and he does not give any trouble. She has about 5 kids from various ages. He tells me he likes the kids and some mornings he will ask me for extra stacks so he can share with his new friends. He is starting to come out from that I'm a bad boy attitude to I'm a good boy all the time and you can see the difference in his behavior. We will continue the exercise with him. I attached a picture of him for you to meet my little man.

Once again Dr. Peter Haiman thanks. Thank for your continuing help and care for my child. God bless!